LEE COUNTY IN SOUTHWEST FLORIDA

LEE COUNTY, FLORIDA is the fastest growing area in the United States, and for good reason . . .

Its subtropical climate is unique within the Continental United States . . .

The Gulf of Mexico, with its barrier islands, and the Caloosahatchee River provide some of the finest fishing and boat sightseeing in the World. Sailboaters also find the area excellent.

Miles and miles of white sandy beaches ensure your perfect vacation for sunning, swimming, shelling and strolling. Sanibel and Captiva Islands are internationally known for their excellent shelling, and the warm, gently rolling waters of the beautiful Gulf of Mexico make swimming a year-round delight.

Fort Myers, Cape Coral, Lehigh and Sanibel are the major cities within Lee County, and each has its own unique flavor and areas of interest.

Lee County was settled first by the Caloosa Indians - mound builders - and remnants of their villages can still be visited at Koreshan State Park and Pineland. It was an active military fort during the Seminole Wars and re-activated again during the Civil War.

Perhaps Fort Myers is most famous for two things - the stately, regal Royal Palm Trees lining McGregor Boulevard and the winter home and laboratory of Thomas Edison. Each year the City honors the memory of its most famous citizen with a Festival of Light, culminating in the Grand Parade of Light - the second largest night-time parade in the Country.

There are many attractions shown on the map below which we're sure you'll find entertaining and enjoyable.

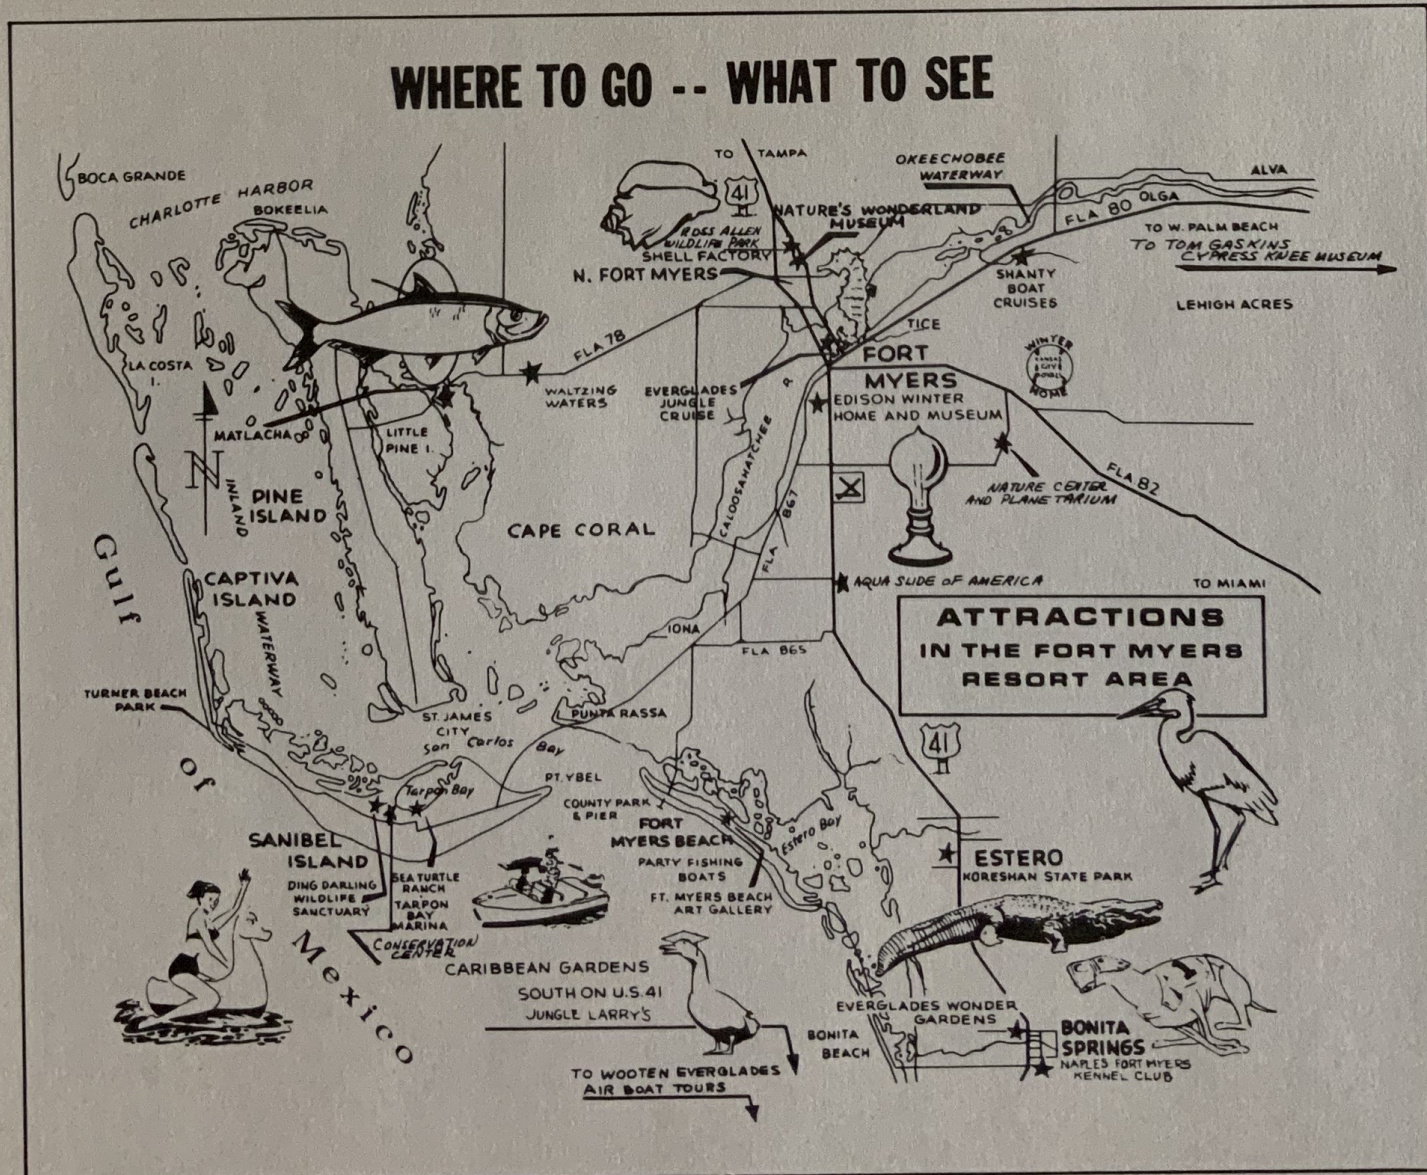

We hope you'll enjoy Lee County, Florida - a land of sunshine, white sandy beaches, warm Gulf waters and friendly people.
